The DIMMER VIEW

Your Grateful Neighbor

The advent of the holidays is the proper point from which to exercise our concerns about our neighbors. We should be aware that the holidays are theirs, too.

Those of us whose problems are little more than what inflation is doing to us and whether the swine flu threat is political or real, are indeed fortunate. Some of our neighbors face problems that are genuinely overwhelming. They are proud families—just as yours. It is so painful for them to call for aid. But it would be even more painful if no one heard their cry.

There are such families right in your neighborhood. Unquestionably, your worry about them is allayed because agencies have been established to care for most of their needs when emergencies arise.

So it is fitting that we take a quick look at a supply agency that supplies the fuel (your money) to make the machinery run. It is also fitting that the look (more properly, it is usually a little more than a glance) be taken between Thanksgiving for those who are truly thankful, and Christmas, for those who delight in giving.

The supply agency is United Way/CHAD. Let Shirley Hulett, a UW/CHAD official say it as she said it to us recently. "As you know, the Combined Campaign represents a partnership unique to San Diego County, and is the area's largest, and most comprehensive effort on behalf of a hundred health and human care agencies.

"I hope you will see the value of emphasizing the services to individuals and families which are made possible by the campaign (as distinguished from the agencies which deliver the services).

"Both are important, but it is the services which really are the payoff—services such as youth guidance and character development, patient service and education, individual family counseling, services to military and their dependents, and emergency assistances."

Hulett is both charitable and grateful. She is thankful for all of the contributions made by generous citizens to UW/CHAD. She is charitable in giving credit to the numerous services which are made possible through voluntary contributions.

It took only a small amount of research to count off 79 human care agencies and 11 health agencies made available by UW/CHAD. She allows UW/CHAD to take credit for nothing except wise distribution of your contributions.

Checking delivery agency logs makes it apparent that Spring Valley-Lemon Grove communities are getting their money's worth. Here's the way it was recorded by mid-September:

	Spring Valley	Lemon Grove
Boys and Girls Aid Society	4 children served	3
Child Guidance Clinic	30 children served	16
Children's Home Society	21 families served	15
Family Service Assn.	627 families served	464
Girl Scout	1,533 members	3,154
		(inc. L.M.)
Jewish Family Service	5 families served	3
S.D. Assn. for Retarded	13 families served	31
S.D. Council Boy Scouts	1,036 members	598
S.D. Council Camp Fire Girls	124 girl members	60
Speech, Hearing, Neurosensory Center	102 persons served	76
United Cerebral Palsy Assn.	6 persons served	5
Visiting Nurses Assn. (Homemakers)	282 visits	365
Y.M.C.A.	157 participants	214
Y.W.C.A.	150 members	160

In Lemon Grove an additional 75 persons were served by the Episcopal Community Services.

If each service recipient had only an unlikely single contact with the agency, the total number of services delivered is an amazing 9,438—4,124 for Spring Valley residents and 5,314 for Lemon Grove.

That's a pretty good record any way it is tested. And those who have helped make the services possible should be justifiably proud in this season of thankfulness and high charity.

Better Said than Read

"39 Alive" a television presentation of matters which are holding the public's interest at the moment, is interesting and informative. It includes editorials delivered by one of local television's better editorial reciters, Bill Fox, Ch. 39 general manager.

To commemorate these journalistic endeavors 39's public relations department sends to the media each week printed copies of Fox's editorial comments. They make good reading, too.

One repeats a talk titled "The Marshall's Office . . . What To Do?" given by Fox on November 5. It reads, in part, "39 believes that time has come to merge the offices of the County Marshall and that of the Sheriff."

" . . . Gov Brown vetoed . . . legislation that would have allowed the current Marshall to continue in office . . .

" . . . the post becomes vacant (by retirement) on January 1. "Further 39 Alive's research indicates that the consolidation would save up to 3/4's of a million taxpayer dollars while increasing government efficiency.

"That's our opinion. What's yours? . . ."

Our Opinion: 39's P.R. Department should learn to spell marshal!

Thanks for the Offer—We Think

The more it changes the more governmental gobbledegook remains the same.

On a letterhead of the City of San Diego Community Relations Department dated November 12 came this earthshaking intelligence:

"The City Community Relations Department's complaint component offers effective complaint procedure to individuals who feel they may have received unsatisfactory treatment or service from any law and justice, or law enforcement agency. The CRD acts as a neutral body helping citizens and agencies alike by providing a sensible, consistent format for complaints, and by cooperating in developing appropriate channels for submitting complaints. The end result is, in most cases, conclusions satisfactory to both parties, and better understanding between citizens and the law and justice system."

It says, "If you got a beef about treatment you got from the police, court or jail, we'll help straighten it out."—we think

Army Engineers Admit S.V. Flood Plans Faulty

Maps locking Spring Valley into a costly federal flood insurance program are based on data that may no longer be valid, the Army Corps of Engineers have advised Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Chula Vista.

The maps, delineating "flood hazard boundaries" in the Spring Valley area, were prepared earlier this year by the Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) and originally were to have taken effect last July 2.

However, authorities agreed at the request of Van Deerlin and Rep. Clair Burgener, R-Rancho Santa Fe, to delay implementing flood insurance plans charted for Spring Valley and Poway. Spring Valley is within Van Deerlin's congressional district while Poway is part of Burgener's constituency.

Col. Hugh G. Robinson, head of the Army Engineer's Los Angeles district office, said information used in the Spring Valley map "may be subject to significant change," particularly in regard to the frequency and severity of major floods in the area.

Robinson urged Tom Brinton, western regional director for the FIA, to hold up the Spring Valley flood map until the Corps can complete new studies of the situation. "I estimate completion early next year," Robinson said.

Van Deerlin said the proposed revisions do not necessarily mean that Spring Valley will finally be dropped from the flood insurance program. "There is some hope, however, since officials now concede they may have been wrong the first time around—precisely the point which Rep. Burgener and I attempted to make."

If Spring Valley is finally included in the flood insurance program, property owners will have to pay special premiums and be subject to new restrictions in making property alterations.

In Spring Valley 550 homes and 46 businesses were included in the flood hazard area that was first designated.

Records May Topple In SVP&R 'Weekend'

One of the features of the Spring Valley Park & Rec. Dist.'s community-wide Bicentennial 3-day weekend will be an attack on the Guinness Book of Records.

Competition will start at noon Saturday, December 11 for those who would make or break existing records.

According to Willie Williams, SVP&R supervisor, such records as eating 44 hard-boiled eggs in 30 minutes; standing on one foot 5 1/2 hours; or making more than 200 free throws in a row are only a few of the records there for breaking. He'll tell of others to those who call him at 475-5444. This contest will be on Saturday.

The Bicentennial Weekend is on December 10, 11, 12 and will offer such features as fireworks, entertainment, an art and crafts fair and a photography display for beginners, amateurs and pros. All displays will be in room 770, Mt. Miguel.

Fireworks will be fired off on Saturday at 9:15 p.m. at the La Presa Junior High school grounds.

On Saturday and Sunday there will be softball tournaments all day at Monte Vista High school diamonds and the S.V. Little League field.

The County Free Throw contest will be at Mt. Miguel gym 5-9 p.m. Sunday. Starting at 10 a.m. Sunday the Miguel Cafeteria stage will offer bands, singers and dancers.

A Scout Jamboree will be in the Spring Valley Park all day Friday.

All events are free.

Teachers Support Bus Ride For Lemon Grove Students

The Lemon Grove Teachers Association has gone on record in support of free busing of students living long distances from school in Lemon Grove.

Barbara Brockhouse, LGTA president, submitted a letter to Lemon Grove School Board President H. Warren Buckner last week at the governing board's regular meeting.

The "official position" of the Association, representing most of the teachers in the Lemon Grove School District, as stated in the letter, is one of support for "providing of transportation to and from school where necessary for the health, safety and welfare of the students."

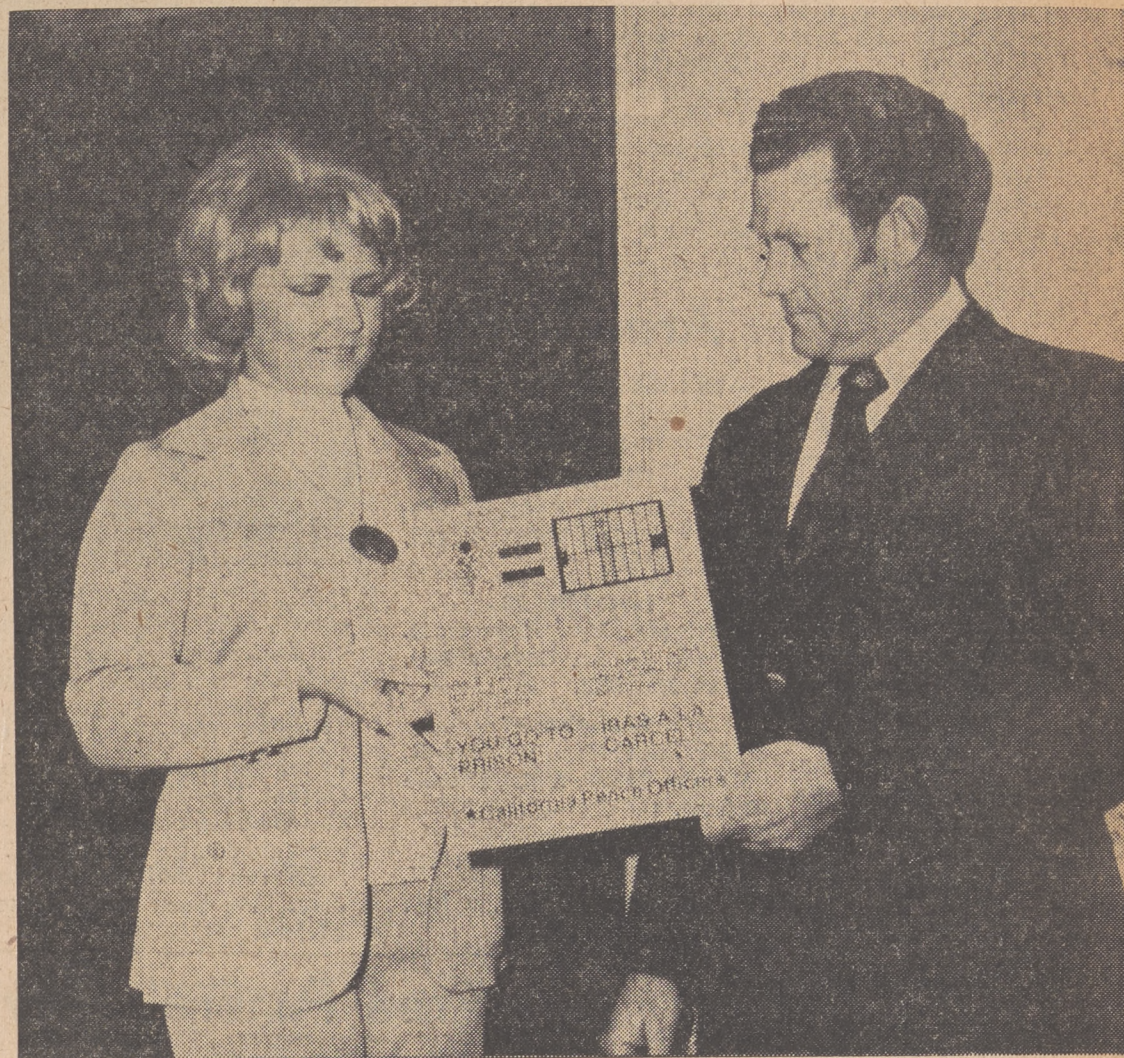

Parents of children living between 2 and 3 miles from school have made several complaints to the Board regarding the elimination of district-provided bus service this year.

Complaints and pleas to resume transportation have been renewed by parents during the previous four board meetings, but the Board continues to stand by its decision, claiming the 1976-77 school year budget is unchangeable.

Most of the complaints are from residents of the Broadway Heights and San Altos Elementary attendance areas.

The Board, while leaving unchanged its bus service to handicapped children and elementary school children living set distances from school, cut bus service to about 150 students who attend its two junior high schools and who live two or more miles from their school.

GET THE WORD OUT—Linda Winters, new accounts representative at Lemon Grove Bank of America, examines one of several posters being distributed to retail outlets in the area by Sheriff's Captain George Dodson. The posters are designed to get the word out on the streets that a new state law denies probation to suspects who commit crimes with a gun.

Sheriff's Men Spread Word on New Tough Law on Gun Crimes

New laws making it tougher on criminals are no deterrent to crime unless the criminals know about them.

The axiom prompted State Senator George Deukmejian (R-Long Beach) to begin a statewide promotional campaign to get the word out about B 278, a new law he authored which provides mandatory state prison for persons committing certain crimes with a gun.

"We are aiming at the criminal who carries a gun in his waistband," Deukmejian said. "We are telling him that if he uses a gun while committing a murder, robbery, prison escape, aggravated assault, rape or kidnapping, he goes to state prison with no chance for probation."

Posters are being distributed at retail stores in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley as well as all over the state as the first phase of the information program.

The California Stop-Crime Coalition sponsors the program along with H. Cushman Dow, vice president of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce and Sheriff John Duffy.

"Obviously, the law would have no deterrent effect if the potential violators didn't know about it," said Sheriff's Captain George Dodson, officer in charge at Lemon Grove substation who is spearheading the effort on the local level.

The information campaign parallels an effort in Florida this year where a multi-media information program to primarily inform the street criminal element of a similar new law was followed by a 29.7 drop in armed robbery during six months.

The drive is funded in part by the California Chamber of Commerce, California Retail Liquor Dealers, 7-11 stores and the California Sheriff's Assn. More funds are being solicited.

Condition 'Same,' Fund Grows

Kip Hayes Back On Respirator

Kip Hayes this week drew his first few breaths without the aid of a life-saving respirator since the Mt. Miguel senior suffered paralyzing neck injuries in a November 12 high school football game.

But doctors quickly restored the breath-giving apparatus after about eight unaided breaths and declared the 17-year-olds' condition "not significantly changed," according to Mt. Miguel Principal Bob Pyle.

Hayes remains in critical condition in the Intensive Care section of El Cajon Valley Hospital with a displaced neck disc and spinal cord damage.

Meanwhile, area residents continued their outpouring of sympathy and of contributions to a fund established to defray the injured defensive lineman's staggering hospital costs.

"Right now the Kip Hayes Fund has a little more than $28,000 deposited in the bank," Pyle reported Tuesday. "It's been a phenomena like I've never experienced before."

That amount does not include the more than $10,000 in pledges raised for Hayes in a recent radio marathon. Nor does it account for anticipated donations from the latest fundraiser—a "Kip Hayes Night" slated for the San Diego Mariners December 16 hockey game against Edmonton.

Burglar is Nooner

An otherwise vacant building at 8215 Broadway, Lemon Grove, was burglarized at noon November 11, Wilford F. Reese reported.

The daytime burglar forced open an overhead door and took a Black and Decker electric grinder worth $120, he reported. The building was being refurbished.

Mariners general manager Ballard Smith has announced the club will contribute $1 of each ticket sold that night to Hayes' hospital fund. Students at Mt. Miguel and other Grossmont district high schools will be selling tickets to the game, attempting to sell out the house, according to Pyle.

"The (Mariners) players all wanted to do something because we're all athletes and things like this can happen to any of us," team captain Andre Lacroix said.

Flivver Parked On Broadway

The "Fabulous Flivver" is on Broadway this week.

The Flivver is a scaled-down replica of a Model T Ford.

It runs.

It has a 3 1/2 HP engine and attains speeds of up to 25 mph.

The Flivver is on the sidewalk in front of Broadway Hardware, 7846 Broadway.

Someone will own the auto on and after December 18.

It will be the award for a contest being conducted to provide funds for next year's Old Time Days Parade.

In addition, to the auto, two Mariners tickets and two tickets to a 1977 Chargers game (or an autographed football) will be given when the contest is held at 7 p.m. at the L.G. Fire Station.

Application blanks for the contest are available at the hardware store or at the L.G. Chamber of Commerce office as well as most of the business firms in Lemon Grove.

A $1 donation is asked of contestants.

SDG&E Gas Hike OK'd

San Diego Gas & Electric Co. said the Public Utilities has approved an increase in natural gas prices to some customers because its supplier, the Southern California Gas Co. is increasing wholesale prices.

The gas rate increase, $5.9 million annually, will have no effect on the monthly bills of the average residential customer, who uses 70 therms per month or less. The bulk of the increase will be borne by commercial and industrial users.

Under its filing, the company seeks and increase of .01590¢ per therm for customers who exceed lifeline allowances. (81-therms per month for those with gas space heating; 26-therms per month for those with electric heat.)

A therm is the amount of energy required to provide a heat to a measured area.

Girl's Gun Taken

Marcia Ann Trenkamp of 7092 Casa lane, Lemon Grove, reported to the sheriff's office that a .32 cal. automatic blue-steel handgun had been taken from her residence. The gun and the clip it contained were valued at $60.

She gave police the name of a suspect.

Christmas Tunes To Treat Mission Valley Center Shoppers

The warmth and spirit of Christmas will be enjoyed by Mission Valley Center shoppers December 5-24 when local high school, jr. high and private adult choirs carol on the mall, Monday-Friday at 6:30 p.m., and Saturday and Sundays from 1-3 p.m.

Choraleers is an adult mixed chorus of approximately 110 members sponsored by the Navajo Community College Adult Center under the San Diego Community Colleges.

Director Esther Segal and Accompanist Barbara Hoischen have conducted performances with the group at Disneyland, the Buena Park Bicentennial Choral Festival, the Good Times Theater at Knotts Berry Farm, and also for the Bicentennial Freedom Train.

The Choraleers will include, Snow, Snow Beautiful Snow, White Christmas Winter Wonderland and Give a Little Love At Christmas as part of their program at Mission Valley Center.

The performance is open to the public free of charge.

Orphanage Aid is Now Local Women's Project

Each year at this time we join in the plea for aid to one of the most heartwarming holiday projects of the season.

It is not expensive and whatever you give can be followed right to the hands (and your heart) of the little needy girl you have chosen to make happy.

The explanation is in the form of this letter from one of the original sponsors:

"Dear Friend of the Orphanage:

"Once again it is the time of the year that we turn our thoughts to those who are not so fortunate as we at Christmastime.

"Of course I am speaking of the little girls of the House of the Good Shepherd Orphanage in Mexicali, whom you have helped in the past and whom we hope you will help again.

Local Project

"This year, as last year, the Soroptimist International of Lemon Grove-Spring Valley is carrying the ball in getting the letters to Santa Claus into the hands of the people who care whether these unfortunate girls do or do not have a happy Christmas.

"These hard-working women took over this project from Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists, of which I am a member. As the founder of this project, I am still into it with both feet, although my job forces me to travel much of the time.

I have been asked by the Soroptimists to make a personal appeal to you not to abandon these motherless and fatherless children on the day that should be their happiest of the year.

Lucretta's Letter

"Those who want to help may obtain a personal letter from one of the girls (they are written about Thanksgiving time) spelling out her simple wishes. A typical one is from 7-year old Lucy Sanchez, (Spelling corrected)

"Dear Santa:

I am writing you with great joy and sending you a message of peace and well-being.

As every year you cheer us up on the birth of Christ I ask for: sheets, pj's, towel, white knee-socks, toothpaste and tooth brush, soap, face cream, hairbrush, hand cream, deodorant, candy, underwear.

I think you very very much in advance for your gifts and I pray to the Lord for you.

Lucretta'

"If you cannot shop for the girl, you can make out a check to 'The House of the Good Shepherd Christmas Fund' and one of the Soroptimists will do the shopping for you. A check of any size will help.

Who to Call

"The Collection Center for your purchases will again be Homeland Publishing Co. at 7834 Lester Avenue in Lemon Grove. If you cannot deliver your gift there, or have other problems or questions, call Mrs. Rose Cottam at 463-6713 evenings. She will arrange for packages to be picked up.

"The gifts will be taken to the orphanage on December 18th. You are welcome to come along and take your gift off the truck and hand it to the girl yourself. No one is paid for working on this project and every cent goes to the girls. Those who do the work get their reward when they see those eyes light up as the gifts are given.

"Anything you can do to help make this a continuing success will be appreciated by me, the Soroptimists — and most of all, the orphan girls.

Sincerely,
Ken Reiley"

Yule Cheer Not So Cheerful When Memories Come Caroling

We go into the holiday season expecting a delightful, enjoyable, carefree time like the holidays recalled from years past.

But the past is a tough act to follow, says a University Hospital psychiatrist, and that may be the reason for our seasonal stresses, strains and unrealized expectations.

It may also be the reason emergency room and psychiatric hospital admissions go up and suicides increase during the holidays, theorizes Dr. David S. Janowsky, chief of Psychiatric Services at University Hospital, University of California Medical Center, San Diego.

"Christmas rarely reaches the peak of joy we think we remember," he says. "When can the present live up to the wonderful glow of the idealized past?"

People often feel lonely, alienated and unsupported at holiday times, with their feelings in a state that could be labeled the "whatever-happened-to-Santa-Claus syndrome, the psychiatrist points out. They miss family and friends who are no longer there or are not able to offer the emotional support they once could give.

And seeing the gay store windows, hearing the Christmas music, observing the holiday bustle, they frequently suspect they are the only ones in the world feeling as they do.

This sense of "one alone" makes things even worse, according to Dr. Janowsky. It may help to know that many others are feeling as sad and depressed, he suggests. Confiding in a spouse or close friend can be mutually beneficial, because the chances are they may be feeling some discomfort, too.

Another contributing factor to the common negative reactions of holiday sadness and depression is that of pressure, Dr. Janowsky notes.

Many people are under pressure to do a lot more in addition to carrying on their regular responsibilities from now through New Year's, he says. They have cards to write, presents to buy, parties to give and attend — much to do and not enough time to do it.

Recognizing that there are stresses and strains associated with the holidays may be the best way of handling them. "It helps to realize that the holidays sometimes are less than perfect," he says.

'Living Christmas Tree' Set At Skyline Church

The Music Department of Skyline Wesleyan Church will present "The Living Christmas Tree," on December 12-14 at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The program, billed as "San Diego's most colorful and spiritually inspiring Christmas program," will be staged at the church at 1345 Skyline drive, in Lemon Grove.

Blood Banks Depleted Despite Holiday Giving

Every holiday the community blood bank supply reaches a critically low level, according to a spokesman from the San Diego Blood Bank. And Christmas, the traditional season of giving, is no exception.

An increase in usage and a decrease in donations creates the crisis.

In order to offset the donations lost by vacationing donors, all volunteer donors are urged to bring a friend to the San Diego Blood Bank, 5th & Upas, so both can give the "Gift of Life."

"Beginning December 1st, each donor will add a silver or gold link to the chain of life which will decorate the Christmas tree in the canteen," said Del Roberts, Community Relations Coordinator. "By the end of December, there should be over 2000 links placed on the tree by some very fine donors, who know the satisfaction of sharing life's most precious gift."

Anyone in good health between the ages of 17 and 66 may donate. The entire process is safe and painless and takes less than an hour. A donation includes a mini health checkup, a slide show during the donation, and refreshments.

The San Diego Blood Bank is open Monday through Friday 8:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Happy Hour 4:30 p.m.-7:00 p.m. includes wine and cheese along with regular refreshments. Saturday 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Appointments may be made by calling 296-6393.

For added convenience of donors, bloodmobiles are scheduled throughout the county each day of the week. Spring Valley donors can line up for a bloodmobile visit December 16 at Meadowbrook Apartments, 7844 Paradise Valley rd., from 2:30-7p.m.

Cake, Chili Sale Slated

A Christmas Bake Sale and Chili Feed is set for Saturday in the church fellowship hall of Hope Lutheran Church, Pastor Cliff Listug announced.

The fundraising bake sale starts at 3 p.m. and the chili dinner begins at 7 p.m. at the church at 7371 Brookhaven rd., San Diego. Both are sponsored by the Lutheran Brotherhood League.

Church Group To Aid Civil War-Torn Lebanon

An American Relief agency will provide 60 tons of new and used winter clothing for victims of the civil war in Lebanon.

Howard D. Burbank, executive director and manager of Seventh-day Adventist World Service (SAWS) in Washington D.C., said that the first shipment of 30 tons left SAWS' New York City depot November 26. Another delivery will take place before Christmas. The action comes in response to a request from the International Committee of the Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland.

SAWS is cooperating with three other U.S. humanitarian agencies to fill the request. Initial shipments include 200 tons from Church World Service (an agency of the National Council of Churches) and the SAWS allotment. Additional shipments will be sent by Catholic Relief Services and the Salvation Army.

Burbank said SAWS is sending new and used clothing already donated by Seventh-day Adventists through the church's Community Service Centers. Cash contributions are being accepted from Adventist members and friends.

SAWS has a complete blood bank ready to ship to Lebanon. The unit includes all equipment for collecting, labeling and storing blood in refrigeration. Burbank noted that SAWS has been involved in non-partisan relief work in Lebanon since the outbreak of fighting there in 1975.

It is a story of a person, who, as a 73-year-old woman, seeks, in the face of adversity and discrimination, the opportunity to lead a major symphony orchestra in a field dominated by men in the Western world.

Brico still teaches conducting and piano in Denver while leading the Brico Symphony, a community orchestra which she founded. Her love of music, joy of life, spirit and determination have been captured by Judy Collins and Jill Godmilow in this powerful film.

Judy Ginsberg will introduce the film and will lead the discussion at its conclusion. The public is invited to view this film of a woman who established an international reputation despite discrimination and frustration. There is no charge for admission.

Tell It to Grandma

By Edith Macias

Out of the mouths of babes and duly reported to or heard by Grandma.

Far be it for me to "crack a corny" about churches, etc. because I'm quite strong in that field. But I've picked up a few quotes that are just too cute to hide — like "Friendship Day" at a Sunday school class in Santee.

The children there were invited to bring their best friend. A teacher of 8-year-olds tells of a little guy who was very sad because his best friend couldn't come.

"I asked him but he couldn't," he told the teacher.

The next week he explained that he had asked him again, "but he can't come because he isn't a Christian. He's Catholic."

Ever try to explain to an 8-year old that Catholics are Christians, too, when you are all but crackin' up and choking to keep from laughing? You have to stay calm and explain so kids can understand!

Sunday School

Many years ago, in my own Sunday school class, we were to learn to recite the 23rd Psalm. One little girl (me) didn't bother to memorize it — she just read it over a time or two and was quite sure she could say it.

Bravely, she stood before the class and began. "The Lord is my Shepherd that I don't want." The words seemed to escape her mind but she blundered on. "He made lay down in the weeds by the river. He poured some oil on my head. And he ran over my head..."

The teacher said it appeared to her that the Lord just treated me awful. And was my mother ever embarrassed!

Halloween is "long gone" but some of the cute things carry over. I'm certain almost everyone heard about the little girl who wrapped herself in a sheet and was going trick-or-treating as a Holy Ghost! But did you hear about her little brother trying to find a pipe so he could make Holy Smoke?

So what did your little ones say about Halloween — or anything else? Tell Grandma. I get a real bang out of what kids say.

From Joan Sanders in Santee:

Dear Grandma:

How neat! I've been looking for an outlet to tell some of my little guy's cute sayings when I saw your column. With Christmas at hand I'm reminded that Jimmy called our Christmas tree "No, no, Honey!"

We were afraid he would get burned on the lights or pull the tree down on himself, so every time he got close we said, "No, no, Honey!"

We didn't realize how often we said it or that he thought that was the name of the tree until he pointed toward it and told his grandma, "Look-it, No No, Honey!"

P.S. Jimmy was 11 months old at the time.

You, too, can get your grandchild's name in print. Call Edith Macias at 465-0742 and tell her what the youngster said that was cute. The column is open to all relatives — even mom and pop.

Macias is a genuine grandma and a long time Spring Valley resident. Her grandmotherly style of writing should contribute to readers' interest in her column.

If you'd rather write, address her at this newspaper, P.O. Box 127, Lemon Grove, 92045.

Baseball Trades Likely When Moguls Meet in L.A.

Baseball attention will be focused on Los Angeles all next week when the Annual Meeting — traditionally the hotbed of off-season activity — is held.

While, baseball officials converge on L.A. for a full agenda of meetings, it is the possibility of trades that stirs up the excitement for the fans.

It is no wonder that the Annual Meeting and trades are virtually synonymous. The past four years can attest to that. In 1972 at Honolulu there were 19 deals involving some 68 players. The next year at Houston 58 players changed uniforms in 26 transactions. The New Orleans meeting in 1974 saw 40 players traded in 15 deals and in 1975 at Hollywood, Fla., 23 trades were consummated with 64 players involved.

Because of the availability of players who have become free agents and the new inter-league trading period (February 15-March 15) it is uncertain as to the quantity of trading at this year's meeting, but substantial activity still seems likely.

There have already been 9 deals involving 22 players since the end of the season in addition to the interest created by the Free Agent Negotiation Selections and the American League Expansion Draft.

Fifteen of the 22 free agents who were selected by two or more teams have signed with new clubs. Those unsigned, with their 1976 organizations in parenthesis, are infielders.

They are Paul Dade (California), Tito Fuentes (San Diego), Richie Hebner (Pittsburgh), Tim Nordbrook (Baltimore-California), Billy Smith (California), Eric Soderholm (Minnesota) and Royle Stillman (Baltimore).

Stadium Bus Service

San Diego Transit will provide bus service to the San Diego Chargers final home game of the season on Sunday, when the team meets the San Francisco 49ers. For this game, which commences at 1 p.m., the stadium special runs to the stadium will start at 11:30 a.m. at College Grove.

Stadium fare is 50 cents a trip from any point on San Diego's transit system, changing where necessary to connect with a stadium special. Passengers should tell the driver when boarding that their destination is the stadium and they will receive a transfer which allows them to connect with a stadium bus.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Gene Tenace and Rollie Fingers. Who would have believed it?

Going in it just didn't figure. A talent stocked group of bonafide major league swatsmiths and the San Diego Padres end drawing to their strength. Emil Joseph Bavasi and his financial savior, current employed and part time assistant negotiator Ray Kroc added value to Padre surpluses. They beef up the motind and the backstop.

Instead of a hitter, Buzzie and Ray came up with a pitcher and a catcher. Neither exactly a high priority need with the Padre team that barely escaped the cellar of the National League West last campaign.

Of course, Fred Kendall would be a better catcher for the sharing of the job. He is not the fleetest of foot (nor immune to the heat and wear of 182 games.)

And the Padres choice of Gene Tenace gives tremendous dimension to manager John McNamara's options in answering the demands of the game.

Tenace brings a keen eye and excellent power to the plate and should give enemy pitchers serious cause for alarm when he steps in with men in scoring position.

As an added attraction, Gene can play first base and left field, if the need arises. Squeezing in such right handed violence among Padre bats could shake the left-handed blues McNamara's troops seem to suffer when faced by port-siders.

Fingers keeps the suspense alive. Padre pitching has been the team's strongest virtue, but adding Rollie jumps mound chief Roger Craig's corps from "very good" to "outstanding" — perhaps best of breed" class.

Fingers has averaged 20 saves or more and has never had an earned run average above 3.00 since he took up relief work exclusively back in 1972.

Add that talent to the likes of Butch Metzger and Dave Tomlin and all of a sudden the Padre bullpen shines like the crown jewels.

And with a starting corps like Cy Young award winner Randy Jones, Brent Strom, Dave Freisleben, Tom Griffin, Rick Sawyer and a repaired Dan Spillner being pushed for employment by new comers Mike Dupree, John McAllen, Bob Owchinko and Dave Wehrmeister, there is small wonder why the rest of baseball looks to San Diego when talks of trading for pitching help creep into the daily conversations buzzin' Buzzie's phone.

That very well may be the why and where of it. Bavasi and Kroc ended up doing what Padre general manager Bob Fontaine always says they're going to do. They "took the best player available."

As anyone this side of Yuma will remember, the Padres went into the re-entry draft looking for offense. With the exception of Tenace's bat, which semi-fills the need, what they got was depth in defense.

Oh, they went after hitters. First Joe Rudi, then Reggie Jackson. But, the report has it, Rudi wanted more than his worth and Jackson had an agent that wanted to barter like a fish peddler on the waterfront. He apparently wasn't looking for a contract, he was running an auction.

In any event, Buzzie and Ray told Jackson's Gary Walker to put up or shut up and that worthy apparently couldn't understand the demand.

Goodbye bat, hello arm, and Rollie Fingers, won't you sign in, please. Which sets the stage for more dramatics.

By nature, Buzzie Bavasi is an old horse trader. In the days of the "Old Wild West" Buzzie would have been the richest stock man, or hung for a horse thief, but he'd have been some kind of dealer.

And with an extra supply of pitching, the rarest kind of talent on the market these expansion days, Buzzie is happily planning a campaign for the winter baseball meeting scheduled for Los Angeles the first week in December.

He'll be in a town he knows and likes, doing the thing he does best with enough blue chips to make it a helluva poker game. He smiles at the thought of it. Smiles hell. He laughs out loud.

Buzzie Bavasi is going to Los Angeles looking for a bat and he has enough horses to buy his lumber without hurtin' his stable. In the years to come folks will remember this as the year the Padres became a contender.

And ain't that a nice Christmas present from Ray Kroc and Buzzie Bavasi to the likes of you and me?

Chargers (5-7) Last Home Game Against 49ers (7-5) Sunday at 1

Former 49er water boy Dan Fouts leads the San Diego Chargers against the San Francisco 49ers in the final home game of year. Kickoff is 1 p.m., in the S.D. Stadium. Ranked sixth among American Conference passers and first in number of completions with 189, Fouts will make his first NFL start against his old hometown teams.

Fouts passed for three touchdowns at the Chargers (5-7) lost to the Kansas City Chiefs, 23-20, Sunday. San Francisco now 7-5, took a four-game losing streak into its Monday night TV game against the Minnesota Vikings and broke the streak by squeezing by the Vikes 20-17.

The 49ers won the only previous game between the teams, 34-3, at San Francisco in 1972.

Backer-Sackers

Prior to Monday night's game, the San Francisco 49ers led the National Conference with 49 quarterback sacks. Of the total, 41 were made by defensive lineman Tommy Hart (13), Cedrick Hardman (12½), Cleveland Elam (10) and Jimmy Webb (5½). Former Raider Tony Cline will replace injured Hardman against the Chargers.

For Christmas holiday distribution, fans are requested to bring to Sunday's game: 1. New or used toys for the annual "Toys for Tots" drive by the Marine Corps Reserve; 2. Canned food for needy Indian families in San Diego County. Collection boxes will be located at all Stadium entrances.

The first 20,000 fans to enter San Diego Stadium Sunday will receive free the new large color team picture of the Chargers, compliments of KSDO Radio and Jack in the Box.

Last Week

Sunday, San Diego accumulated 24 first downs and 400 yards offense while bowing to the Kansas City Chiefs, 23-20, at San Diego Stadium.

Dan Fouts completed 18 of 32 passes for 218 yards with three touchdowns. Rickey Young ran for 90 yards and a 5.6 average. Don Woods had 68 yards rushing and caught seven passes for 79 yards.

Linebacker Woodrow Lowe made nine tackles, eight unassisted, and Mike Fuller intercepted a pass.

"We certainly did not play with good concentration. We had four turnovers in the first 15 minutes," said Coach Tommy Prothro.

Joiner, Ole

San Diego's ace receiver Charlie Joiner reached the 1,000-yard milestone for the first time in his eight-year pro career with three catches for 45 yards and a touchdown against the Chiefs.

Joiner leads the National Football League in yards receiving with 1,014. He has 48 catches, a 21.1 average and seven touchdowns. He is fourth in the AFC in catches.

Charlie's previous best year was 1975 with 37 catches and 726 yards for the Cincinnati Bengals.

The annual awards luncheon of the Charger Backers will be at the Hanalei Hotel Friday noon.

The Chargers end the season December 12 in Oakland against the Raiders.

Kroc Stops Bidding with Jackson's Game-playing Agent

Fingers Brightens Padres Future

Free agent relief pitcher Rollie Fingers signed a multi-year contract with the San Diego Padres, it was announced Thanksgiving Day by the Padre President Buzzie Bavasi.

The acquisition of the former Oakland A's bullpen specialist brings the Padres up to their maximum number of two free agent signings as they had reached terms with an ex-teammate of Fingers, catcher-first baseman Gene Tenace earlier this month.

San Diego and Fingers, through his agent Jerry Kapstein, agreed to terms late Thursday afternoon after negotiations with outfielder Reggie Jackson reached a virtual impasse.

"We're very happy to have been able to sign an outstanding pitcher of the caliber of Rollie Fingers," commented Bavasi.

On The Spot

Ray (Kroc) and I were able to make the deal on the telephone this afternoon with Jerry in Los Angeles when it appeared things could not be worked out in the Jackson situation. We asked Jerry what it would take for Rollie to play for the Padres and we agreed right down the line with the various proposals he put forth. As a result, we agreed right 'on the spot'."

"Frankly," continued the Padres president, "this was the way we had wanted to work things out with Jackson and his agent Gary Walker. We met with them and agreed to everything they had in their original proposal. Then, they went back to several other clubs for more talks, got back with Ray and wanted to start adding to the original proposal. They wanted several things we could not comply with and that, coupled with the delaying tactics on their part, pushed us to the point where we could wait no longer.

Last Chance

"We didn't want to get shut out since we had done so much work with Jackson that we were unable to pursue Joe Rudi and Bobby Grich as we would have liked. This left us with the possibility of losing Rollie if the eventual word from Jackson was 'no,'" said Bavasi. "Rollie was our last unsigned draft choice. If we lost Jackson and we just couldn't take a gamble."

Fingers turned in a typical performance last season with Oakland when he finished with 13-11 and a 2.40 earned run average with 20 saves. He carries a lifetime mark of 67-61, 2.90 with 136 saves. Over his nine-year major league career, that averages eight wins and 15 saves a season. He recorded 20 or more saves in four of the past five seasons.

The 30-year-old Fingers was the MVP in the five-game World Series win over the Dodgers in 1974 as he was 1-0, 1.93 with two saves. A veteran of five American League Championship Series (1971-75) and three World Series (1972-74), he ranks 10th on the all-time list in both relief wins and saves.

Open Champ Pate Signs for AWSDO

U. S. Open Champion Jerry Pate will compete in the Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament January 26-30 at Torrey Pines, according to official notification to tourney chairman Hal Tebbetts from the PGA.

A sensational rookie on the 1976 tour, the 23-year-old Pate more than lived up to the golf world's great expectations for him with his 71-69-69-68-277 at the Atlanta Athletic Club last June.

Then, proving that was no fluke, he won the Canadian Open five weeks later, adding the $40,000 purse to the $42,000 netted at the U. S. Open.

The Pensacola first-year pro wound up 10th on the earnings list with $153,102, ahead of such established stars as Johnny Miller, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf and Tom Watson.

Pate's emergence was not unexpected, just earlier than anticipated. An All American at the University of Alabama, he had won the U. S. Amateur in 1974 and been on the 1974 World Amateur Cup and 1975 Walker Cup teams.

After being low qualifier in the 1975 Fall Qualifying School, he finished tied for fifth in the Pensacola Open.

Competing in the 1975 U. S. Open as an amateur, Pate finished in a very respectable tie for 18th.

The Macon, Ga. native qualified for the 1976 AWSDO by making the cut at the Hope Desert Classic, then won $4,914 by finishing in a tie for seventh.

Mariners Unbeaten Record Tested Tonight

The San Diego Mariners are on the brink of tying a home rink unbeaten record but two large obstacles stand in front of them — a raft of injuries and tonight — the Phoenix Roadrunners.

Either is enough of a problem, but, together, they can present a grand headache to coach Ron Ingram.

The Mariners face off against Phoenix at the San Diego Sports Arena, tonight at 7 p.m.

San Diego is unbeaten in nine straight home appearances this season, that mark including seven wins and two ties, and is within one of the record ten straight set during the 1975-76 campaign.

Facing Phoenix is a mean chore for San Diego. The Roadrunners won nine of 12 games from the Mariners last year, including four of seven at the Arena, and defeated the local iceys by a 6-3 margin in Phoenix, Nov. 14, in their lone 1976-77 meeting.

The growing injury list has forced Ingram to call up some reserves. Wingers John French and Wayne Rivers were both sidelined with shoulder hurts last week while defenseman Brent Hughes sprained his back. None is expected to be ready for Phoenix.

Up From Minors

To help take up the slack, wingers Tony Cassolato and Tim O'Connell have both been brought in from Southern League farm club Charlotte. Cassolato, in his rookie pro season, had a goal in two earlier games with San Diego while O'Connell, also a rookie, will be seeing his initial major league service.

San Diego also made a permanent roster change last week with the acquisition of defenseman Larry Hornung from Edmonton in exchange for defender Gregg Boddy. Hornung saw service with

Kip Hayes Night

The Mariners have set the December 16 game with Edmonton aside as "Kip Hayes Night".

Hayes is paralyzed from his neck following a football game injury. He is the 17-year old Mt. Miguel High school Matarador's defensive lineman.

Ballard Smith, Mariner general manager, said the club will contribute $1 for each ticket sold to offset the staggering cost of Hayes' hospitalization.

Winnipeg for four campaigns before being obtained by Edmonton this season.

Despite the injuries and resultant line shuffling, the Mariners are getting excellent goal tending from Ernie Wakely and Ken Dockett. Wakely turned in his 13th WHA career shutout last week and lowered his goals against average to 2.37, second best in the league.

Offensively, centers Andre Lacroix and Joe Norris remain 1-2 in the team scoring ranks.

Ftorek Back

Phoenix is paced by pesky center Robbie Ftorek, the league's smallest player at 150 pounds and one of the game's more accomplished performers. His support includes wingers Del Hall and John Gray and a quartet of impressive Finnish skaters that lists defenseman Rocky Rautakallio, center Seppo Repo and wingers Juhani Tamminen and Lauri Mononen.

Following the Phoenix game, San Diego is off on an extended six-game trip.

Hunter Fined $1,800 in Sheep's Death

A Spring Valley man was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $1,800 for shooting a bighorn sheep near Borrego on October 16.

Bighorn sheep, listed as rare and endangered animals, has been protected from hunters since 1872. It is the second such animal killed during the past year.

The hunter, Michael Lasher, 24, told the court he thought the animal was a deer and later discovered it to be a sheep.

Originally set at $500 fine and six months in jail, the maximum misdemeanor penalty, the court later increased the fine and reduced the jail term. Lasher will serve the jail sentence on weekends.

The fine will go into the state Fish and Game wildlife program.

Fund Shuffle Saves 115 From Layoffs

The County Board of Supervisors saved 115 jobs in public and private non-profit agencies when it voted to redistribute $102,282 in federal employment program funds among the agencies.

Workers in 22 agencies faced layoffs due to lack of the federal funds which support their jobs.

Supervisors ordered the County to reallocate funds among other agencies, thus guaranteeing a continuation of jobs through December 31.

More federal monies are expected to arrive in San Diego prior to December 21 for continuation of the jobs in 1977.

Among the employees of city government; water, fire, school and irrigation district and social service organizations involved in the motion were 28 city employees of La Mesa.

So it wasn't long before sights were set on the land to the west.

But it took money to explore and settle. And thanks to Americans taking stock in their country, the money was there.

Today, taking stock in your country is just as important. And one of the best ways to do it is to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Just join the Payroll Savings Plan at work. Out of each paycheck, a little is set aside to buy Bonds. Automatically. And that means regular savings you can depend on.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. There's no safer way to save. After all, the money's guaranteed by the home office.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

38-Year Old Rod Laver is Rookie of Year

Rod Laver, who won his first of two Grand Slams (U.S., Wimbledon, French and Australian championships) in 1962 and was named rookie-of-the-year of World Team Tennis 14 years later, has signed his 1977 Friars contract.

The announcement was made by Allan Kingston, Friars president-general manager, who said that Laver's involvement with WTT contributed significantly to last year's dramatic attendance increase not only in San Diego but also throughout the league.

Despite a 13-31 record, good for fourth in the five-team western division, the Friars drew an average of 3,653 fans for 19 matches at the Sports Arena. That was a 235 percent boost from the 1975 figure and the home total of 74,617 ranked sixth among the 10 league cities, only 223 behind champion New York.

Much of the reason for the response was Laver. Despite a slow start while becoming adjusted to WTT's knock-out type of play, Laver finished with the league's second best men's singles record.

Now, in his 14th year as a pro, Laver, 38, has won more than $1,600,000 in career prize money and was the sport's first millionaire player. His two Grand Slams remains an unequalled accomplishment as is his four U.S. Pro Indoor titles.

Kingston reports that season ticket sales are "extremely encouraging. We've already nearly doubled what we sold last year," he said. . . . Season tickets start as low as $81 in the loge areas. . . . The Friars offices are at 1660 Hotel Circle North, 298-9855.

New Format for Motocross Payoff

ANAHEIM — The American Motocross Finals, Saturday at Anaheim Stadium will be the debut of a new race format for Stadium Motocross, promoter Mike Goodwin announced.

Sanctioned by the AMA, this new format for $30,000 in prizes makes it virtually impossible for a rider to win the first two motos and coast on the third. In this new ladder-type elimination program, no rider can count his prize money until the final race.

Eighty of America's top motocross racers will qualify for the American Motocross Finals. There will be four 10 lap heat races, two 10 lap semi-finals, one 15 lap consolation race and one 20 lap main event. Each heat will run a field of 20 riders with the main event fielding the best 24.

Tickets are $15, 10, and $7.50.

$10,000 Bonus In Pro Rodeo Finals

OKLAHOMA CITY — It won't be surprising if Tom Ferguson wins the all-around cowboy world championship and collects the $10,000 bonus from the Winston Rodeo Awards at the National Finals Rodeo here December 3-11.

He has already set a Professional Rodeo Cowboys Assn. record for regular season earnings — in excess of $90,000. And he ranks as the co-favorite to win two events — calf roping with PRCA Rookie of the Year Roy Cooper and steer wrestling with 1973 world champion Bob Marshall.

However, it would be wrong for anyone to overlook the excellent chances that Bobby Berger ($40,000) and Sandy Kirby ($19,000) have to claim the all-around title.

The 15 best Girls Rodeo Association barrel racers in the country will be vying for $10,000 in Winston Rodeo Awards with the champion receiving $5,000. The favorites in this event are Jimmie Gibbs, Connie Combs and Gail Petska.

Aztecs 10-1 Grid Season 'Most Satisfying'

The S.D. State U. football team put the final touches on a classic season Saturday night, beating the U. of New Mexico 17-14.

The win gave the Aztecs their 10th win of the year and the club finished with a 10-1 mark. New Mexico ended its season with 4-7.

It marked the sixth time in school history an Aztec team has won 10 or more games in a season and it was the fifth time in the last 11 years the Aztecs have posted a double figure win year.

For Aztec coach Claude Gilbert, it was his first 10 win season since he took over the Aztec reins four years ago.

"Saturday's win is the most satisfying of a most satisfying season," Gilbert said. "This year's team was just a great bunch of winners and a great bunch of guys. I think this is the greatest year of football I've ever had. I feel a lot of personal satisfaction in winning 10 games, but really a lot of credit must go to my coaches. They did the greatest job of coaching that I've ever seen. Every one of my assistants was just super this season."

The 10-1 finish boosts Gilbert's four year coaching total at San Diego State to 35-7-2 and an .833 winning percentage.

Short By 12

Turner had a great season for the Aztecs, but was frustrated Saturday night in his attempt to become the third Aztec in history to gain 1,000 yards in a season. Turner entered the New Mexico game needing 164 yards to finish with 1,000. He fell short, however, gaining 146 yards and finishing the season with 982 yards. That 982 is still the third best single season rushing total in Aztec history.

Turner averaged 122.5 yards rushing in the eight games he played to rank him 8th best in the NCAA. If the two games Turner played only part time were subtracted from his total, the Aztec runner would have 910 yards in six games for a 151.6 per game average which would rank him second in the nation behind Tony Dorsett of Pitt.

Turner pulled a groin muscle in the opening series of the season's fifth game against Pacific. He then missed the Fullerton State and Texas (El Paso) games, played briefly against San Jose State, missed the Utah State game and played hurt his final two games against Long Beach State and New Mexico. In the games he played fulltime, Turner missed gaining 100 yards in only one — against Fresno State.

Nitro Burners Race

EAST IRVINE — Sixteen of the most unpredictable drag racing machines ever to compete at Orange County International Raceway will be competing on Saturday night in a Super Altered Invitational featuring nitro-burning AA/Fuel Altered.

These high-powered, and occasionally explosive, open-wheeled vehicles have provided some wild racing for the past decade, as the machines are the original nitro-burning cars of the early drag racing era. Most of the machines are replicas of 1920 and 1930 automobiles with gigantic 2000-horsepower engines planted in front of the driver.

The League is for boys in grade 4 through 9 and tryouts are Saturday at noon in Monte Vista gym.

Practice will be throughout December with league play starting January 3.

Williams may be reached at 475-5444.

AGUA CALIENTE — Gerald Boese, 23, a second-year graduate student at the U. of Washington, collected $100,813.60 as the winner of the 5-10 contest at Caliente on November 6 and the bonanza came on the first wager ever for the Seattle resident.

Boese said he was visiting friends in San Diego when they suggested a trip to Tijuana was a visit to Caliente. The forestry major said he had some knowledge of how to read past performances of horses since his brother, Doug, had instructed him on handicapping methods during visits to the track at Longacres near Seattle.

Using a $32 multiple ticket, Boese was the only person to have six winners in the 5-10 contest November 6 and earned $98,143.20 as a major award. He also collected $2,670.40 in the form of four consolations.

Metzger Named Rookie of Year

San Diego Padres relief specialist Butch Metzger has been named Co-rookie of the Year in the National League by the Baseball Writers Assn. of America to cap a fine individual season for Metzger and give the Padres a share in two of the three key awards in the league.

Metzger, 24, finished in a tie in the balloting with Cincinnati's Pat Zachry as each man pulled in 11 votes. The remaining two were cast for Hector Cruz of the St. Louis Cardinals. This marks the first tie ever in the voting since it began back in 1947.

In capturing the honor, the Padres boosted their share of post-season laurels as earlier teammate Randy Jones had been named as the 1976 winner of the National League Cy Young Award. Additionally, Metzger was named as the N.L. Rookie of the Year by his fellow players in the annual poll by The Sporting News while in a similar poll, Jones was named as the Pitcher of the Year in the N.L.

Mil Mascaras Heads Mat Show Tuesday Night

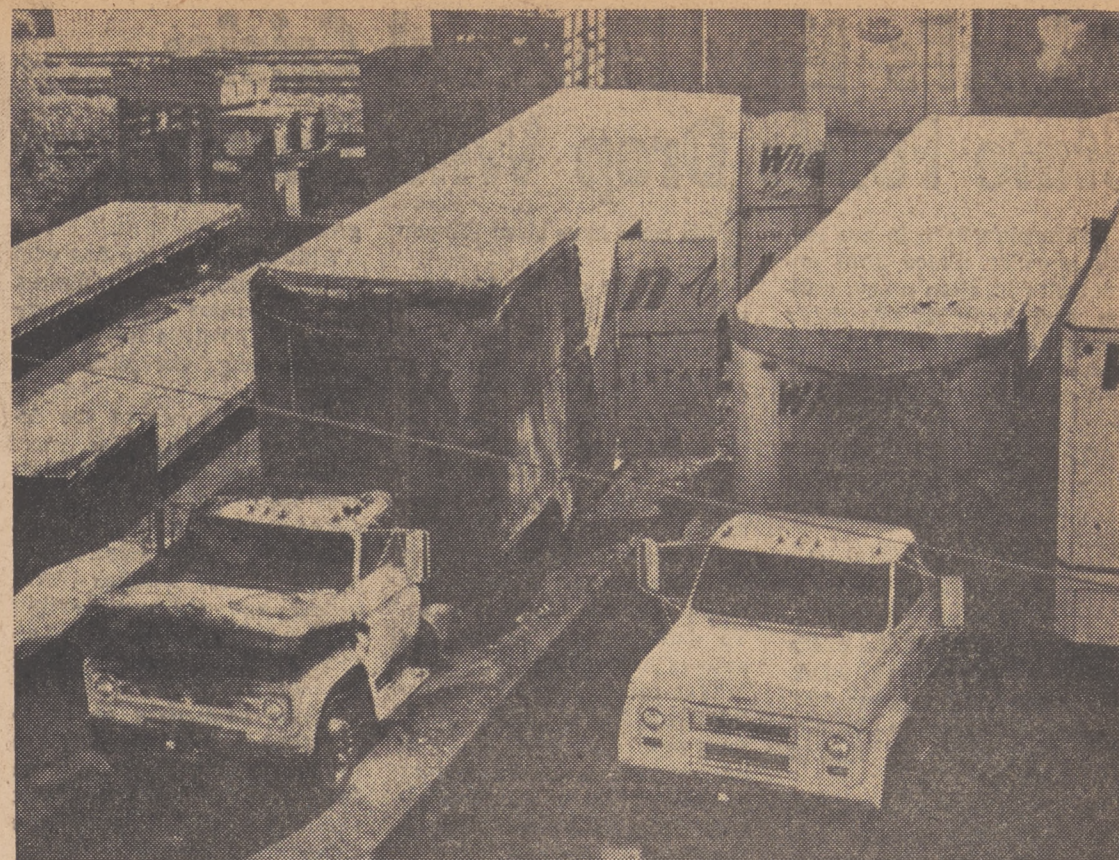

Mil Mascaras, favorite in the New York area for the past several seasons, headlines the Tuesday night professional wrestling show at the Coliseum. His opponent will be Hiro Ota, who won his bout this week against Raul Mata with a "Japanese sleeper hold". Ota was aided by an accident. When he threw Mata over the ropes during Tuesday's bout, Mata's leg broke the red glass 10-second light atop the ringpost. A piece of glass went through Mata's boot and penetrated his lower calf. After medical aid, the bout continued until Ota pinned him.

Raul's brother Carlos will meet Ken Manteell in a co-feature Tuesday in a Mexican Death Match. In this there is no disqualifications, no time limit and the referee stays out of the ring until a wrestler is unable to continue.

In other bouts, Chavo Guerrero meets the Hangman; the Scorpion faces Rock Riddle and Larry Zbysko fights the Butcher.

If Raul Mata is sufficiently recovered he will take on Rock Riddle.

First bout is 7:30. Discount rates are given to youngsters and seniors.

School's New Financial Crisis: State Funds Drop With Enrollment

California's schools are getting smaller. Since 1970 enrollments in elementary, middle and high schools have steadily declined at the rate of about one per cent per year. And enrollments are still dropping.

This means less and less state money is available to those school district losing students.

The state pays the district money on the basis of ADA (average daily attendance). A student attending school every day equals one unit of ADA, and the state gives "X" amount of money to the district, based on daily student attendance.

As fewer students attend, the ADA drops and so does the amount of money from the state.

Less money means cutting programs, clamping freezes on hiring and pay increases, even closing schools.

Yet California is not alone. Across the nation schools are shrinking as the cost of education increases. National enrollments have dropped by more than 1.2 million in the last five years. Since 1963, education costs have risen 132 per cent.

One result of shrinking enrollment is a lack of jobs within the teaching profession. In 1963, for instance, there was a shortage of 600,000 teachers. Last year, there was a surplus of nearly 200,000.

Most of California's enrollment losses occur in urban schools. Here and there throughout the state, schools have been forced to close their doors because of the decline. To date, about 50 California schools have closed.

"Yet many districts are using their buildings for other purposes," says Irwin A. Decker, assistant to the department superintendent for administration in California's Department of Education.

"For instance, a number of districts are going to full time day adult education," Decker says. "Others are offering more enrichment classes, or better summer school programs."

Although there are few who view diminishing enrollment as a positive thing, there seems to be little anyone can do to change the picture for now.

The main cause of the decline is the falling birth rate.

A variety of other things may also contribute — proficiency testing which allows students to leave high school early, more families with school age children leaving than entering the state, and alternative education as offered by private schools.

While population researchers forecast a slight upsurge in enrollments beginning in 1980, for the present, most California school districts are tightening their belts.

As the "money squeeze" intensifies, school officials will have to become increasingly circumspect in determining how these diminishing funds can be utilized best.

County Searching for Handicapped Students

Red Tape Sliced For

Minors' Work Permits

Youngsters might not find it any easier to find a job, but they'll find it easier to get a work permit under a new procedure being started this fall by the State Department of Education in Sacramento.

The new process, designed to slash red tape, paper work and clerical time by about 50 per cent, will reduce the number of forms a minor must file to obtain a work permit from eight to two.

One form, a request for a work permit, is issued by the student's school and must be filled out for each job the student undertakes. It must be approved by the school and filed as a school record.

The second form, the work permit, must be filled out yearly for each student who wants to work. Formerly a new work permit was needed for each new job.

Who needs work permits, which require this registration and which jobs do not are explained in a handbook on employment rules for minors, available from any school district or county schools office.

A new search for unknown handicapped children is being launched in San Diego County, according to M. Ted Dixon, county superintendent of schools.

The unique project, called Search and Serve, is designed to identify all children from birth through age 21 who are eligible for special education services. It is necessary to identify these children in order that appropriate special education programs can be developed to meet their individual needs, Dixon said.

"School districts and our office are already able to help many of these young people," he added. San Diego City Schools, for example, currently enrolls more than 5,000 handicapped students in special programs.

The California State Department of Education estimates that there may be 200,000 "unknown" handicapped California children in the age span covered by Search and Serve. Many of them are not enrolled in school.

Parents of eligible children — or persons who know of children they think might be eligible — should contact the city and county Search and Serve Offices by calling 292-7962 or by calling their local public school.

"Eligible students include those who are physically disabled, retarded, or suffer some sort of communication or learning disorder," said Michael Norton, coordinator of the project.

Children identified as potentially eligible for special education services will be screened to identify specific learning difficulties.

New Head PR Group

Payne B. Johnson, director of public relations and advertising for the Solar Division of International Harvester Co., is being installed today, as president of the S.D. County Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA).

The play "The Good Doctor" is a composition of nine of Anton Chekov's humorous short stories which have been adapted into play form by America's foremost writer of comedy, Neil Simon.

"The play is well written, and very funny," said Evonne Noll, director. "We're very happy with its progress."

The Assemblyman, first appointed Chairman of the Local Government Committee in January, 1976, stated that he is extremely pleased to continue to serve in that capacity.

County Tries Change To Evaluate Medi-Cal Mental Health Patients

State psychiatrists rather than physicians will work with psychiatrists in treating Medi-Cal beneficiaries in San Diego County Hospitals as part of a six-month pilot program.

In the past, evaluations to determine the need to keep a patient in the hospital were vested in physicians who were not necessarily psychiatrists.

Under the program, evaluations must meet criteria established by the American Psychiatric Association.

The program is a venture sponsored jointly by the State Department of Health and the County Psychiatric Society.

Marines Open Local 'Toys for Tots' Effort

The 29th annual "Toys for Tots" campaign, sponsored by the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, was kicked off last week at a ceremony at the San Diego Zoo.

Zoo director Charles Bieler joined local civilian and military dignitaries to usher in the 1976 drive for toys for needy children.

Toys for Tots barrels, for new and used toys, are stationed at all San Diego County fire stations through December 24. Also, toys may be donated to any service truck or branch office of Mission Cable TV.

The weekend of December 11 and 12 has been declared "Toys for Tots Weekend" at the San Diego Zoo. Children 15 and under who donate a toy at the Zoo's main entrance will receive a free Zoo poster.

A special kick-off ceremony for North County residents will be held Saturday at Plaza Camino Real in Carlsbad.

The 1975 Tots campaign collected 50,000 toys to benefit 8,000 San Diego County children.

Beach Campsite Closed For Winter Building

The camping portion of San Onofre State Beach in San Diego County will be closed from December 1 to April 1 to allow construction of permanent camping facilities, according to Herbert Rhodes, director of the California Department of Parks and Recreation.

Open trenches during construction will prohibit traffic circulation, Rhodes said. The day-use area at the surfing beach, located at the northern end of the State Beach, will remain open.

Facilities to be constructed include 236 recreation vehicle campsite stalls; 63 tent campsites with stoves, tables and fire rings; 619 day-use parking spaces; 16 unisex comfort stations with outdoor cold water showers; two trailer sanitation stations; an area for a concession trailer which will offer camper supplies; and an entrance complex.

Christmas Lights Go On Sunday In Balboa Park

Dedication ceremonies to launch San Diego's Community Christmas Center in Balboa Park will be Sunday evening, 6:30-7:30 p.m. at the Organ Pavilion.

The program includes a concert by the Marine Corps Band and concludes with the lighting of the "Living Christmas Tree" with Mayor Pete Wilson officiating. The seven great Biblical Scenes by the celebrated Sculptor Rudolph Vargas will be illuminated; "Santa's Workshop" will come to life; the team of "Reindeer in the Sky" pulling Santa in his Sleigh will be lighted and the spectacular "Christmas Tree Lane" throughout the Park, involving several miles of streamers and thousands of lights will be turned on.

It will be the first time since the Community Christmas Center was established in the Park in 1953 that the ceremony has been held in the evening, according to J. Clark Chamberlain, chairman of the sponsoring Committee. It will also be the first time that viewers will be able to see the lights come on, as the Opening Ceremony had previously been held in the afternoon.

Special programs will be scheduled at the Organ Pavilion each Sunday. On December 12 there will be an Organ Concert at 2 p.m., coordinated with a Christmas music presentation by the Choral Department of Madison High School.

The House of Pacific Relations will present a review of "Christmas Customs Around the World" December 19, following the regular 2 p.m. Organ Concert by Civic Organist Douglas Ian Duncan. This program will conclude with the appearance of "Santa" who will have greetings and a candy cane for small children.

The Community Christmas Center will be open, night and day throughout December, with recorded Christmas music being played each evening.

Here It Comes, There It Goes

For those who want to know what happens to the tax money is State Controller Kenneth Cory's report this week of tax income and disbursements.

SOB's Successful Says Author

A San Diego man has written a book which is attracting considerable attention in local book stores. "Why S.O.B.'s Succeed and Nice Guys Fail in Small Business" would attract attention even if its title didn't.

The book, 377 pages, was written by Bob Morrison, himself a successful small businessman.

The book contains large examples of methods utilized by small business operators in their determination to survive and succeed.

Morrison, 38, the father of six children, says, "The small business owner who is successful, like others in any line of endeavor who excel, are usually called S.O.B.'s by losers, while those who never do well or fail, are remembered as, 'Gee, he was a nice guy, too bad.'"

Morrison says the book was written because, "if you want to succeed in business, you've got to stand and fight, or you will be stomped by the powers of government, labor and the total bureaucracy that is geared against you."

"How to Get and Use Power", "The Fine Art of Employee Exploitation", "How to Own a Banker and Finance Anything", and "How to Bail out for a Soft Landing" are some of the chapters Morrison uses in his book to show how the small businessman can make it in the world of business. "Why S.O.B.'s Succeed..." is available at four Pickwick Book locations or by sending a check or money order to Financial Management Assoc., P.O. Box 82129, San Diego, CA 92138.

What's for Dessert?

During a lifetime, the average American will consume about 50 head of cattle, 3,000 chickens, 10,000 eggs, 6,000 loaves of bread, 4,000 pounds of butter or margarine, 20,000 pounds of fruit and vegetables, 8,000 pounds of sugar and 20,000 gallons of liquids.

Letters To The Editor

Report Card

Dear Editor,

We, the Lemon Grove Teachers Assn., would like to express our appreciation for the article in the November 18 edition of the Lemon Grove Review, which presented some of our concerns in the current negotiations.

Teachers are currently working without a contract and with no pay raise this year pending negotiations.

Since figures can be deceiving, we would like to clarify several points in the article. Mention was made the average Lemon Grove teachers salary is above the state average. The reason for this is conspicuously absent. It does not mean the salary schedule is higher than average. It merely reflects the longevity and level of education of the teaching staff.

The district cites a 28.95 per cent raise over the last five years. The teachers base salary has risen about 25 per cent in the last five years, which averages out to 4.9 per cent a year. Inflation over the last five years has risen far beyond 4.9 per cent per year, which has actually lowered the real income realized by teachers.

Sincerely,
Barbara Brockhouse
The Lemon Grove Teachers Assn.

Views Editorial

Editor:

I was delighted to see that your editorial column, "The Dimmer View," focused on the problems of our education system in your November 26 edition. Though I would tend to favor placing more of the blame for the declining quality of education outside the classroom, I agree with most of the points raised by you and Mr. Warren.

I would add that per capita spending on education here in California ranks only 25th of all states in this area. Though more spending will not, in itself, raise the quality of education, it can be a contributing factor.

One interesting point made by Mr. Warren was how parents were told to stay out of the schools. Our Lemon Grove School District actively solicits parents' input at all levels in the school system.

For example, parents are asked to help in the classroom; be active in PTA; serve on advisory committees of ECE, Title I and Community School programs; provide input at School Board meetings; etc.

I would like to alert interested citizens of another opportunity to get involved in the educational system and make themselves heard. The School District will be forming a District Goals Committee to update the District's goals adopted in 1972-73.

In addition to a district wide goals committee, there will be a goals committee at each school. For more information, citizens should contact Dr. Sutton, our Superintendent.

Area Homes May Be Site Of Water Saving Test

A large-scale test of ways to save water by reducing residential water use, sewage flows and energy consumption will begin in 300,000 San Diego area homes if the sponsoring state agency can obtain the necessary federal funding.

Water-saving kits would be distributed throughout the area under the program announced recently by Ronald B. Robie, director of the State Department of Water Resources (DWR).

The $650,000 program would primarily be funded under the Federal Research, Development, and Demonstration Grant Program administered by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Robie said DWR is now awaiting EPA action on the funding request.

Dec. 11 Set For E. County Walk-A-Thon

The San Diego Imperial chapter of the March of Dimes has scheduled the fifth annual El Cajon-Lakeside Walkathon for Saturday morning, December 11.

Starting points will be from Renette Park in El Cajon and at Lindo Lake Park in Lakeside.

Walkers will be asked to obtain sponsors for each mile accomplished in the 20-mile event. Money obtained goes toward research and clinical work in the constant battle against birth defects.

"Walkathons are fun and great fund raisers," said Joan Embery, who is serving a second term as San Diego-Imperial campaign chairman. "The voluntary health agency also funds professional and public health education and medical service programs throughout San Diego County."

"A fine example of this is the work being done at Scripps Clinic, Salk Institute, University of California at San Diego and even at our San Diego Zoo." Miss Embery also is the goodwill ambassador for the Zoo and Wild Animal Park.

All those interested in walking or sponsoring a walker can contact the March of Dimes office by phoning 284-1166.

CHP-School Bus Testing Started

Inspection of nearly 3,000 buses which transport pupils to and from school-related activities will begin this week in California.

The inspection program was mandated by recent legislation which resulted from the Martinez bus accident last May in which 28 high school students and an adult advisor were killed.

Buses to be inspected under the program include charter party carriers, transit buses and common carriers typically rented by school districts for transportation of youngsters to school-related activities. The bus which crashed in Martinez was a charter party carrier.

110 specialized Calif. Highway Patrol personnel will spend a majority of their time between now and January 1 inspecting buses.

The law requires these buses to be certified by that date and probably will require substantial overtime.

Six additional civilian inspectors will be hired by CHP to assist, but these positions are necessary primarily for ongoing inspections after January 1.

The law also requires that drivers of school pupil activity buses be trained and certified as school bus drivers. The Highway Patrol, the Department of Education and the Department of Motor Vehicles are working jointly on this task.

The new program is in addition to CHP regular program of inspecting all California school buses annually.

Winter Motorists Sometimes Neglect Auto, Says Auto Club

Motorists generally bundle themselves up when going into colder climates but too often neglect to prepare their car for fall and winter driving conditions, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Louis J. Bintz, manager of the Auto Club's automotive engineering department, said most of the preparation can be completed in a few minutes without much inconvenience. Here's a checklist:

- Check your windshield wipers. Are they operable? Examine the rubber blades for cracks and tears from the summer heat.

- Turn on the heater and defroster to confirm that they are still functioning.

- Tires should have good tread — at least 1/32 of an inch, according to state standards. The "wear bar" will be visible if a tire has less than 1/32 of an inch. Be sure you have enough air in your spare tire.

- Keep tire chains in your trunk if you live in areas where it snows or becomes icy.

"Once you've made the preliminary checks," Bintz said, "ask your mechanic to inspect the brake and cooling systems. The cooling systems should contain a mixture of approximately 50 per cent anti-freeze and 50 per cent water."

Power Source Switch Saves SDGE Money

San Diego Gas & Electric Company announced it saved $13.8 million in fuel costs this year by selling excess fuel oil at a loss.

Carl Welti, news bureau director, explained that an unexpected availability of natural gas and hydroelectric power this year allowed the utility to switch intermittently from the more expensive fuel oil method of generating power.

The excess prevented the consumption of 1.5 million barrels of fuel oil, but the utility had to sell the oil at a loss because of a lack of storage space, Welti explained.

Despite the loss from the sale, the net saving in the shift to cheaper power generating sources amounted to $13.8 million.
